Coconut Oil

Used for centuries in hair care traditions, coconut oil is prized for its cultural significance and powerful benefits. It helps reduce hair fall by strengthening roots and keeps hair moisturized, shiny, and voluminous, making it a top choice in cosmetics.

Argan Oil

Rich in antioxidants and fatty acids, argan oil deeply hydrates, nourishes, and protects the hair and scalp. With regular use, it seals cuticles and locks in moisture, leaving damaged hair healthier, shinier, and smoother.

Olive Fruit Oil

Found in many conditioners, olive oil is rich in oleic acid, palmitic acid, and squalene—emollients that moisturize, add shine, and strengthen hair. It helps smooth the hair shaft, reduce frizz and flyaways, and improve manageability.

Castor Seed Oil

Applying castor oil once a month can boost hair growth up to five times the usual rate. It can moisturize a dry, irritated scalp. Castor oil's antibacterial and antifungal properties are also proven to reduce dandruff.

Guar Gum

A key ingredient in conditioners, it conditions, thickens, and detangles hair. It boosts softness, shine, and manageability while helping reduce breakage and frizz.

Glycerin & Disodium

Glycerin draws moisture into the hair, boosting hydration and overall condition. Disodium aids in foaming and cleansing. Together, they ensure the shampoo cleans effectively while keeping hair soft and moisturized.

Chamomile (Chamomilla Recutita)

Chamomile enhances shine, revives golden tones, and gently lightens hair—especially for blonde or light brown shades. It also soothes irritated scalps, reduces dandruff, and supports a healthy scalp.

Green Tea

Green tea may help promote hair growth while soothing a dry or irritated scalp, making it a gentle and beneficial addition to hair care.
